

Beyond the Liberal Constitution:
European Voices of Dissent and the Constitutional Consequences
Workshop

8–9 December 2016

Venue: Haldane Room, Wolfson College, Linton Road, Oxford

Thursday 8th December

9.00–9.30 Coffee and pastries

9.30–10.00 Introduction: Contemporary Social Movements and the Constitutional Consequences

Denis Galligan, Professor of Socio-Legal Studies, University of Oxford, FLJS

10.00–11.15

1. Populism and the Constitution

Daniel Smilov, Associate Professor of Political Science, University of Sofia

2. Charisma and Populism

David S Bell, Emeritus Professor of French Government and Politics, University of Leeds

11.15–11.30 Tea and Coffee

11.30–13.00

1. Over-reliance on Rights

Frank Vibert, Senior Visiting Fellow, Department of Government, LSE

2. The Russian Constitutional Experience

Henry Sardaryan, Acting Dean at Faculty of Public Administration, MGIMO University, Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Russia

13.00–14.15 Lunch

14.15–16.15

1. Constitutional Court: with or without you? Thoughts on why Poland needs its constitutional court

Mikołaj Pietrzak, Partner, Pietrzak Sidor & Wspólnicy; Associate Tenant, Doughty Street Chambers; Dean of the Warsaw Bar Council

2. The Authoritarian's New Clothes: The Case of Hungary

Gábor Attila Tóth, Associate Professor of Constitutional Law and Human Rights, Budapest and Debrecen

3. Various Kinds (and Degrees) of Populism in the Italian Political System

Cesare Pinelli, Professor, Università 'La Sapienza' di Roma. Academic visitor at the Oxford Institute of European and Comparative Law

17.30 Lecture: The Constitution in Crisis 2016 delivered by Professor Denis Galligan

Venue: Leonard Wolfson Auditorium, Wolfson College

18.45 for 19.00 Dinner

Friday 9th December

9.30–11.00

1. United States: Taking the Bullying Pulpit

John W. Adams, Chairman, FLJS, Honorary Fellow, Wolfson College, and Adjunct Professor, Rutgers University

2. Constitutionalism without Consensus in Contemporary Turkey

Bill Kissane, Associate Professor in Politics, LSE

11.00–11.15 Tea and coffee

11.15–12.00

Constitutional Consequences for the European Union

Paul Craig, Professor in English Law, University of Oxford

12.00-12.45 Review of issues and discussion

12.45-13.45 Lunch